The newly-published . figures should offset some of the gloom that spread through official quarters here in the wake of an earlier report from the Office of Education. That report, compiled several months ago, showed that undergraduate engineering enrollment dropped 4.5 per cent from the autumn of 1957 to the autumn

The decline in engineering enrollment was particularly disturbing because it seemed to mean that American college students were not responding to the national need for more technologically-trained manpower - a need vividly demonstrated on October 4, 1957, when Russia's Sputnik I went into orbit.

It now appears that the mystifying drop in engineering enrollment may have resulted. at least in part, from students switching into maths and science majors, Educators point out that a shift of only a few courses can change an engineerscience major. OWN, THEORY

New York taxi drivers, ever searching for new ways to woo passengers, have hit on something new to offer-free shaves. One of the largest taxi companies in the city, The Metro Systems Corporation, has placed 25 test cars in service equipped with plug in electric razors, after-shave lotion, powder, and mirrors that fit round the neck. Other taxi companies already offer free newspapers, racing sheets, even perfumes. Some have television in the rear seats, several air-conditioning units. But says Metro president Jack Plotski: "This is a natural." Picture shows cabdriver Matt Kangler watches his passenger take a free shave,-Express Photo.

Kangaroos Doing Big Damage In Australia

by Robert F. Cousens

Broken Hill, Australia, Oct. 16. You may think they're cute, but Kangaroos cost Australia £6 million a year.

That is an official estimate by the Australian Graziers Association of the amount of wool lost because Kangaroos cat up pastures which would otherwise support sheep.

Club 'A' Versus 5th Field Is Best Of Today's Three Rugby Matches

By PAK LO

Of the three games scheduled for this afternoon the one between Club "A" and 5th Field Regiment on the Army ground in Boundary Street at 3.15 p.m. offers the most interest, for Club "A" have completely switched their back division in an attempt to improve a disappointing side.

The other two games are on the island with the 1st Lancs meeting RAF Little Sai Wan at Stanley at 3.15 p.m. and Club "B" facing a once more changed 32nd Medium Regiment XV, at: Sookunpoo at 4.30 p.m.

Cheyennes Can Chalk Up Hat-Trick Of Softball Wins This Weekend

By OLLY VAS

In the Men's Junior Softball League only the Pandas remain undefeated to date but the situation is likely to change when they come up against the Cheyennes this afternoon at 2.30 p.m. This will be the game to watch and the Cheyennes manager Robert Remedies may have a lot to be happy about, for over the weekend his three teams stand excellent chances of recording a hat-trick in victories for him:

His ladies' nine are pitted against the Squaws tomorrow at 10.00 a.m. and they should pack too much power, even without Frances da Silva's true to normal form. pitching, for the opposition.

Having already easily beaten the latter is a foregone conthe U. S. Navy team twice in clusion. recent Summer league matches the Senior Cheyennes should take this 2.30 p.m. contest without raising a sweat.

Last week the Junior Cheyennes railled strongly in the late stages of the game against the Indians to register a popular win.

Not Tested

They played the type of softball that carned them the title last year but only after they managed to enjoy a slight lead. Reggie Hamet showed peat ball control then and should be nominated for the pitching chores against the Pandas.

The Chinese team have so far not been really tested. From what I have seen of their games they do not appear to 'hit and run' taotica. fast-moving Cheyennes will take advantage of this weakness and should dazzle the opposition with speed on the

After a somewhat lethargic start the Cheyennes are finally settling down and I favour them to topple the unbeaten Pandas by a narrow margin. Both sides boast some heavy hitters but the Cheyennes can rely on some good bunters in the line-up to push those vital runs across the

TALKING RUGBY GLOUCESTER ARE HAPPY TO START

By ROY McKELVIE

That first-class centre H. J. C. Brown, who has put new life into the Blackheath back division, is currently the subject of correspondence between the counties of Somerset and Middlesex.

Somerset, who opened the new County Rugby Championship against last year's finalists, Gloucestershire, at Weston-super-Mare last week, chose him for the match. Only one day before the match did they discover that Brown, now a master at Aske's School, New Cross, had thrown in his lot with the county of his birth, Middlesex. He will play for them in their first match, against Kent, this week.

Gerald Williams replaces Somerset, who also lose wing R. J. N. Leonard because of Army duties.

County Championship on a highly disciplined pack, can rarely have begun in such conditions. It may mean that present conditions. in the west, the south, and the Midlands-the north begin two weeks later-results will not run

Want Rain

Two of last year's semifinalists, Middlesex and Gloucestershire, say they prefer the grounds dry and hard. Gloucestershire think they would have beaten Warwickshire in the final in firm conditions. For this season's campaign they retain virtually the side, a notable exception being front-row international ward George Hastings, who has retired. Nigel Burt, of Clifton, replaces him.

I think Devon, with a pack lighter but faster—than—usual. will also do well at the moment. The champions, Warwickshire, pray for rain.

ON FIRM PITCH

They are not impressive behind the scrum, apart from Peter Jackson, who will not be playing for a month at least, and they are seeking a new fly-half.

Most likely candidates for Colin Hewitt's former position are Biddle, of Met Police, and

Dalton, of Kenilworth, Discipline

Warwickshire are also without that excellent young fullback, David Cook, at the moment. He has lost a stone Brown in the centre for and a half and a lot of confidence in a recent illness. An unimaginative team, War-who will not be suited by the A. R. Taylor (Durham Colego) was picked for a Northumberland trial but has elected to play for Durham, though Mike Weston is still the fly-half in possession. Weston will play in the Championship matches, but Taylor deputised for him in last week's Durham final trial on the new pitch at Darlington.

Durham impressed last season as a virile, spirited side, and on that form must start favourites for the Northern Division if the grounds soften.

All last year's team are available, though at the moment a lot are injured. Wings like J. R. Moffat, F. C. Inglia now up at Cambridge. and G. Hunter, an England trialist, must be the envy of other counties.

In the London area, Middlesex have several most useful acquisitions apart from John Brown.

They can call on Dick Tooth, an Australian international, or the Welshman, A. Prosser-Horries, for full-back, and a South African, Larry Taylor, in the centre.

Middlesex look exceptionally fast behind the scrum, and in present conditions should give us some exciting entertainment.
